INTRODUCTORY NOTE

THIS volume contains a complete genealogy of the town of Lexington. Every person whose birth is recorded on the Town or Parish Records is included with as much completeness as it is possible to obtain, or as is consistent in a town genealogy. In some instances, valuable space may be occupied by unimportant data, but in no other way can the reader be assured that the work is complete. In several instances, the lack of detail is due to the failure of those concerned to furnish adequate information, as requested by the committee.

In addition to those born in the town, every person well identified with Lexington, either by residence or relationship, has been carefully considered and included so far as possible or expedient.

All data published by Mr. Hudson have been verified or corrected.

The older Vital Records of the town omit some facts which have been supplied from family records or other reliable sources. Occasionally discrepancies have been discovered between the Town, Parish, and family data which cannot be harmonized. In a few instances, dates of deaths taken from the Parish Records may indicate the date of funeral instead of death, but these cannot be verified.

The Histories and Vital Records of many towns have been taken as authorities without giving special credit. Bond, "Genealogies and History of Watertown"; Savage, "Genealogies of Charlestown"; and Paige, "History of Cambridge," have been used extensively. When information has been obtained from some unexpected source, the authority is usually specified.

When a town is mentioned but no State is given, Massachusetts is always implied, except in a few cases so unmistakable as San Francisco, Gettysburg, etc. When no town is specified, Lexington is understood. Towns and cities other than Lexington and States other than Massachusetts are always given.

The exponent following a given name indicates the generation in the genealogical line and is also used for identity in cross-references to marriages, etc.

Dates in parenthesis after names are taken from gravestones in the cemetery opposite Bloomfield Street. "G.S." following a date or other statement always means gravestone inscription.

"V.R." signifies Vital Records of the town under consideration.

"State List" signifies "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War," published by the Commonwealth.

While extraordinary care has been exercised to avoid mistakes, it is hardly to be expected that none will be found in such a large volume on a subject particularly susceptible of error. Any one discovering an error, therefore, will confer a favor by reporting it to the Lexington Historical Society.

Acknowledgment is due to Mr. William R. Cutter, of Woburn, for planning the revision to meet the requirements of modern genealogical usage, and for the addition of valuable data. Acknowledgment is also due to Miss Mina K. Goddard for the very painstaking and accurate manner in which she has revised the entire manuscript and corrected the proof.

ABBOTT

1. NEHEMIAH<sup>4</sup> ABBOTT (Nehemiah,<sup>3</sup> George,<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup>) of Andover, Weston, Lexington and Lincoln, was born at Andover 19 Jan. 1692, died 16 Feb. 1767, g. s. at Lincoln, son of Nehemiah, born at Andover 20 July 1667, and grandson of George and Sarah (Farnum). His mother, Abigail Lovejoy, was born at Ipswich 29 Aug. 1669, daughter of John and Mary (Osgood).

He was town treasurer of Lexington, 1740–41, and an assessor, 1741, and held other minor town offices. On 24 Feb. 1756, he conveyed to his son Joseph, lands and buildings in the towns of Lincoln and Lexington. Included in this sale was a mansion house and barn and two hundred acres of land. (Recorded 14 Oct. 1771, — Middlesex Deeds, 72: 169.)

He married first at Andover, 2 Nov. 1714, SARAH FOSTER, who died 4 Oct. 1755, in her 63d year, g. s. at Lincoln, daughter of William and Margaret ( ); secondly 1 July 1756 JOYES ABBOTT, born at Sudbury 13 Aug. 1706, daughter of Samuel and Joyce (Rice). She died his widow, 18 July 1770, according to Lincoln rec., where her name is spelled "Joyous."

2. JOSEPH<sup>5</sup> ABBOTT (Nehemiah,<sup>4</sup> Nehemiah,<sup>3</sup> George,<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup>), born 8 June 1727, died 23 June 1794, g. s. at Lincoln. In 1773 he bore the title of Ensign. The heirs of Joseph Abbott, 3 Sept. 1794, were Joseph, Nehemiah, Abiel and Asa Abbott, Sarah Coolidge and Mary Fassett, and the children of Hannah Wellington (Timothy Wellington, their father, being guardian). The inventory of Joseph Abbott, taken 15 Sept. 1794, shows his real estate to consist of a barn and seventy acres of land more or less, lying in Lincoln and Lexington, which were appraised at £430. Hudson, writing about 1868, says, "He resided at or near the Spaulding place in Lincoln, which was taken from Lexington, when Lincoln was incorporated in 1754." This would account for his being called of Lincoln on the records.

He married HANNAH WHITE, born 10 Dec. 1728, died 4 July 1784, g. s. at Lincoln, daughter of Joseph<sup>2</sup> and Hannah ( ) of Lexington.

He came to Lexington in 1801 and opened a store in the village. On the breaking out of the War of 1812 he received a commission as a lieutenant of United States Infantry. His duties were at first those of a recruiting officer, and in August, 1812, he marched a force from Boston to Plattsburg, and during the following winter he was again detailed on the recruiting service, and in April, 1813, marched with about one hundred recruits by way of Greenbush, N. Y., to Sackett's Harbor, where he arrived on 29 May, just in time to assist in repelling an attack made by the British on that place, under the leadership of Sir George Provost. He accompanied the army under the American General Wilkinson down the St. Lawrence, in November, 1813, and was present in the action at Christler's Fields, 11 Nov. 1813. Later he was stationed with the army at French Mills, and still later at Sackett's Harbor and Buffalo. He was in the battles of Chippewa, 5 July 1814, and Niagara, 25 July 1814. As one of the famous Col. Miller's regiment, the "I will try" regiment, he helped storm the battery in the latter action, and there received a severe wound in the shoulder, and for his bravery and good conduct was honored with the brevet rank of major.

* Samuel Burbank was a soldier of the Revolution. He held the office of lieutenant at the battle of Bunker Hill, and afterwards commanded a company which marched to Rhode Island, in the army summoned there under General Sullivan, for whom he named his eldest son. He resided at Holliston and Fitchburg, and lastly at Cavendish, Vt.

Consequent upon the ending of the War in 1815, the army was reduced in size, but Major Burbank remained in the service as a captain in the Fifth Regiment of Infantry. He served in the peace establishment at almost every part of the frontier from the St. Lawrence River to the Sabine River. His ancestors were all of Concord, and John Chandler probably resided in that part of Concord, which was included afterwards in Lincoln, when that part was made a town in 1754, since his marriage is recorded as of Lincoln. He came to Lexington and erected a house on the present Lincoln Street, near his father-in-law's house, where he spent the remainder of his days. He held a commission under Governor Bernard as "Cornet of His Majesty's Blue troop." His sword, holsters, and a part of his commission are preserved by the family, and were in the hands of his grandson, the late Samuel Chandler. Though he held a commission under the royal governor, he was not false to his native colony. He belonged to the military company headed by Capt. Parker in 1775, was one of the board of selectmen for a long period, and also an assessor and town treasurer; a member of the committee of correspondence, and for many years treasurer of the Ministerial Fund.

In 1779 John Chandler, Jr. Joseph Loring, and Burdoo entered the marine service under Commodore Tucker, and being on the southern coast, they were included in the capitulation of Charleston, S. C., by Gen. Lincoln, in 1780, and were confined as prisoners of war until their exchange. They endured severe suffering from confinement and want of provisions, and after they were exchanged, Chandler and Loring, without money, and almost without clothing, wended their way as best they could to their native home, depending upon the charity of the people, and they reached Lexington in a destitute and wretched condition, after an absence of about a year. After the close of the war, he was actively engaged in the militia; elected captain in 1790, and promoted major in 1796. He was one of the selectmen of Lexington in 1796, '97, and '98.

Having a hereditary taste for military matters, he entered the service of the United States as an ensign in 1814, and repaired to the cantonment at Pittsfield, whence he was detailed to conduct a body of British prisoners to Canada on exchange, and then returned to Pittsfield. Soon afterwards the troops at that place were ordered to the Niagara frontier, and arrived at Buffalo the latter part of July, the day before the battle of Lundy's Lane. They were then ordered to Fort Erie, which was early in August besieged by the British, under Gen. Drummond, and kept in a close state of siege for two months. During this period there were two desperate battles, in which Lieut. Chandler participated: an assault by Drummond upon the fort on the 15th of August, and a sortie from the fort on the 17th of September, which induced Drummond to raise the siege. The American loss was returned as 595, and that of the enemy at 1700, including nearly 400 taken prisoners. After some slight skirmishes on the Niagara frontier, the army was ordered to proceed by forced marches to Sackett's Harbor. On the return of peace, Lieut. Chandler was discharged. Though he held a commission as lieutenant during the greater part of the campaign he had the command of a company, and during his term of service was promoted from a third to a first lieutenant. He was subsequently major-general in the militia, and held the office of sheriff of the county ten years. He represented the county in the State Senate, and held the office of justice of the peace, and trial justice. He was for many years an active member of the Middlesex Agricultural Society.

On 2 Mar. 1862 he was commissioned first lieutenant and adjutant of the 7th Cavalry, Missouri Vols. In the fall of 1862 the regiment joined the Army of the Frontier. He came directly from Germany, settled at first at Peterboro, N. H., resided for a time at Boston, and became a resident of Lexington in 1869. His vocation was that of a cabinet maker until he entered the army.

At the breaking out of the Civil War he enlisted in the 22d Mass., and lost his arm at Gaines' Mills, one of the Seven Days' Battles before Richmond, in 1862, in rescuing the colors of his regiment — which are now among those so carefully cherished in the State House. For "gallantry in the field" he was commissioned 2d lieutenant in September, 1862, and 1st lieutenant in October, 1862. Minus an arm, and with his wound unhealed, he returned to the front, and as acting captain served at Chancellorsville, where he received a flesh wound in the leg. He was transferred to the Veteran Reserve Corps and later sent to Indianapolis on provost and guard duty where he remained two years, part of the time being in command of the U.S. Arsenal then being built there. In August, 1866, he was commissioned captain in the Regular Army, serving in different garrisons four years, when he was placed on the retired list. From this time until his death, he was agent for the National Soldiers' Home.

His mother, Bethia Wood, was born 28 July

1660, died at Watertown 18 Sept. 1731, in her 72d year, daughter of Nicholas and Mary (Williams). His great-grandmother, Elizabeth, came to New England as a widow about 1640, died at Cambridge 10 Jan. 1663-64, aged about 89.

He was a glazier, and from 1724 to 1734 resided at Woburn. Previously in 1722, he had bought an estate in Woburn of Elizabeth Richardson, administratrix. He appears to have mended the meeting-house glass in various towns and his estate was inventoried after his death at £308.

He married about 1723 RACHEL POULTER, born 11 May 1702, died at Temple, N. H., about 1795, daughter of Jonathan<sup>3</sup> and Elizabeth ( ), and granddaughter of John and Rachel (Eliot). She owned the covenant in Lexington church in order that her child be baptized 19 July 1724. After her husband's death she moved to Woburn and was admitted to the church there 19 Nov. 1756. She married secondly Barnabas Davis, previously of Littleton, and moved with him to New Ipswich, N. H., to dwell with her eldest son, about 1763. After the son's death in 1771, the old couple with Rachel Cutter, a daughter, resided for a time with Joseph Cutter a grandson.

In Mar. 1843 his wife and four children sailed for this country, and after a passage of forty days landed at New Orleans. The family joined a party of about two hundred and fifty men, women, and children that started from St. Joseph or the Far West. At Fort Laramie an old Indian chief was much surprised and chagrined to find his offer of a hundred horses for Mary refused. At Fort Bridges the party separated, Mr. Eyre and the rest of the family going to Oregon, Mary joining a friend, Miss Yount, and going to her home in California. The whole journey took six months and was made on horseback. They endured many hardships and privations, at one time being without food for two days. At Napa Valley she married in 1844 John Sinclair, a Scotchman, who owned a ranch in the Sacramento Valley. After many exciting experiences they found conditions too dangerous to remain, and Mr. Sinclair left with his family for New York. At New Orleans he and their infant son died of yellow fever. Mrs. Sinclair made her way to New York, and later made her home with Capt. Phelps at Lexington. 25 Nov. 1852, she married Sidney G.

He was major of the Lexington Artillery. His grand-daughter writes: "My father's brothers and sisters were all born in the same house, the old Nelson-Hastings house which stood on the road to Concord, a back road running from the point where the old Viles tavern used to stand, and parallel to the 'main-travelled road.' The house where my father's family were born is where my seven brothers and sisters were born. The confusion between Lincoln and Lexington comes from the fact of my grandfather's farm lying in both towns, and the dividing line placed the house within the Lincoln boundary, but all the relations were all with Lexington."

highway for Thomas Kendall and the neighborhood westerly of him, through his land to the town road. A long, bitter controversy about this road was settled by Kendall's giving a bond to the town in 1730, binding himself and heirs to save the town harmless from all expense in maintaining the road. The locality of his residence was presumably south and west of the Great Meadow, and near the brook running into the same, and near what is now known as the "Katahdin Spring" place. He was constable in 1718, and filled several other subordinate town offices.

LAWRENCE

The Lawrences were for a considerable period among the prominent citizens at Lexington, the name appearing on the records as early as 1693. They were descendants of John<sup>1</sup> Lawrence of Wisset, England, who was an early settler at Watertown. The family dates back to 1190, beginning with Sir Robert Lawrence, whose immediate descendants married into the family of Washington, his grandson marrying Matilda, daughter of John de Washington.

JOHN<sup>1</sup> LAWRENCE was probably at Watertown as early as 1635 as his eldest child was born there 14 Mar. 1636. By his first wife ELIZABETH (    ) he had thirteen children; and by his second, SUSANNA BATCHELDER, two.

Wyman says he was admitted freeman in 1672, was early chosen deacon, a representative and much employed in public business. His will mentions sons Nathaniel, John, and Samuel Page, daughters Hannah Houlden, Mary Wheeler, Elizabeth Harris and Deborah, and grandson Lawrence. He did not come to Lexington till after 1701.

1. JOHN<sup>3</sup> LAWRENCE (Nathaniel,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>), born at Groton 29 July 1667, died 12 Mar. 1746.

He was one of the parish assessors in 1702, constable in 1705, selectman in 1716, '17, '22, '25, '26 and '31, and tythingman in 1719.

He was one of Capt. Parker's company 19 April 1775, marched to Cambridge 17 June 1775, and was also in the three months' campaign of 1778. He entered the marine service with John Chandler, Jr., and being on the southern coast under Commodore Tucker, was included by Gen. Lincoln in the capitulation of Charleston, S. C. After remaining for some time a prisoner, during which he suffered severely, he was exchanged, and in destitution and comparative nakedness, was compelled to beg his way home to Lexington, amid the taunts and sneers of the Tories.

He married 26 Nov. 1772 BETTY POLLARD of Bedford, born 12 Nov. 1750, died at Rindge, N. H., 23 Mar. 1836, daughter of Walter and Dorothy (Danforth). They were admitted to the church 27 Feb. 1774, and moved to Rindge, N. H., about 1810.

He was a member of Capt. Parker's company, and was with it upon the Common on the morning of 19 April 1775. He was with the detachment which marched to Cambridge on 6 May, and also on Bunker's Hill on the day of the battle, and at Cambridge two months in the campaign of 1776. His name appears also on the list of men who enlisted in Lexington for three years, or during the war, among those who served in the Continental Line, or the regular army of the Revolution. He not only performed his duty after the war had begun, but he performed an important duty introductory to the affair of 19 April 1775. On the evening of the 18th, when it was known that certain British officers had gone toward Concord, he volunteered with two others to go and watch their movements. He was taken prisoner and kept several hours, until on the return of these officers he was set at liberty near Lexington Common, about daylight.

This family acted a conspicuous part on that memorable occasion. The church plate was kept at the house of Deacon Loring, and fearing that the British soldiers in their vandalism might destroy it, Lydia Loring, a sister of Jonathan, took the precaution to secrete it under some brush not far from the house, and so prevented it from being destroyed, or carried off with the rest of the property of the family.

He moved with his family to Mason, N. H.

MEAD, MEADE, MEADS

GABRIEL<sup>1</sup> MEAD of Dorchester, made freeman in 1638, died 1666, aged 79. His will mentions several daughters, and a son Israel,<sup>2</sup> born 1639, lived in Watertown, moved to Dedham, and later perhaps to Woburn. Israel,<sup>3</sup> presumably son of the preceding, sometimes spoken of as of Woburn, and sometimes as of Cambridge, is undoubtedly one and the same person, and from him the Lexington family of Mead is in part descended.

1. ISRAEL<sup>3</sup> MEAD (Israel,<sup>2</sup> Gabriel<sup>1</sup>), died 6 Aug. 1714. He was appointed in Cambridge, 1683, a "viewer of wood," and whether he resided at that time in the old town, or at the Farms, is uncertain, but, in 1692, when the North Precinct was organized, he was within the territory, and taxed for ministerial land then purchased. On the same tax bill is the name of his son, Thomas Mead. Israel Mead's name is on the tax bill for the payment of the minister's salary from 1 May 1692 to 1 May 1693.

He was one of the original members of the church organized in 1696, and of the committee to seat the meeting-house gallery in 1700. His will, dated 2 Apr. 1713, and proved 20 Sept. 1714, mentioned sons Thomas, John, Stephen and Ebenezer, and daughters Margaret Locke, and Mary and Ruth, and four grandchildren, the eldest children of the above Thomas, John and Stephen and Margaret Locke. He remembered his spiritual teacher thus: "I do Give unto Mr: John Hancock the Rev<sup>d</sup>: Pastor of the Church of Chrft In Lexington aforefd: twenty Shillings mony."

He married 26 Feb. 1669 MARY HALL, died Oct. 1692, daughter of widow Mary Hall of Cambridge.

He spent his entire life in the immediate neighborhood of his birthplace, owning and cultivating an extensive estate known as Munroe Meadows. At one time he was a member of the firm of Sewall and Munroe, hardware dealers in Dock Sq., Boston, and for the firm undertook the management of a small paper mill, located on Vine Brook at Bedford. From this experience, and after the mill burned, he started a larger plant at South Lawrence which developed into the Munroe Felt and Paper Co. and of which he was president for many years.

He was a genial, courteous man, proud of Lexington, interested in improving and beautifying it, and a delightful entertainer of friends and visitors. By his will, Mr. Munroe bequeathed to the Lexington Historical Society, on behalf of his brother William<sup>6</sup> and himself, that part of his real estate known as the "Munroe Tavern" and a parcel of land surrounding it, to be kept forever as a token of Colonial and Revolutionary Lexington. 5. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> MUZZY (Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>) was born 16 Apr. 1657, died 12 May 1732.

At what time he first came to Cambridge Farms is not established. There is a record of the birth of his daughter Mary at Cambridge in 1683, but it is impossible to say whether at that time he lived in the old town itself, or at the Farms, so-called. It is certain however that his name is found on the earliest records at the Farms or North Precinct as one of the subscribers for the erection of the first meeting-house in 1692, and he was one of the largest taxpayers in the following year. As he was already a large land-owner in the centre of the town, at the organization of the parish in 1693, it is probable that he had been a resident in the place for some time previously. He was placed on a committee in 1693 with David Fiske, Senior, Samuel Stone, Senior, and several others to negotiate with the town of Cambridge for the purchase of a tract of land for the support of the ministry. He held the office of constable 1694, assessor 1700, and tythingman 1716.

In 1711 the inhabitants of the Precinct purchased of Benjamin Muzzy about two acres of land for a common, and a site for a meeting-house. This was done by a subscription, in which he and his two sons, John and Richard, participated. He lived on or near the spot where Rufus Merriam later resided (the well-known Buckman Tavern estate), and here was opened the first public house at Lexington, his son John being licensed for that purpose in 1714. In the inventory of his estate are mentioned his mansion house, a barn, cider mill, and homestead of one hundred and eleven acres, and valued at £80, and a woman and a child, valued together at £60. He bought his homestead of Edward Pelham, then of Rhode Island, 1693. The description signified that it was then bounded partly by land of John Munroe, by the ministerial land, and by lands of Matthew Bridge, and extended in one direction to Vine Brook.

His mother was Elizabeth Browne, born at Reading 10 Dec. 1647, died 27 Feb. 1697, daughter of Nicholas and Elizabeth ( ). The ancestor, Thomas Parker, embarked at London 11 Mar. 1635 and settled at Lynn the same year, later moving to Reading, where he helped to establish the church of which he was a deacon.

He came to Lexington about 1712, and settled in the south part of the town. By a deed, dated 25 June 1712, John Cutler sold to John Parker, then of Reading, land at Cambridge Farms, containing "one Small Manfion houfe and about Sixty Acres of Land more or less, and is bounded — Southerly upon Sd Wattertown Line," elsewhere by Daniel White, John Stone, and Thomas Cutler. He was chosen fence viewer in 1714, and tythingman in 1715 and 1721. He must have been a man of dignity of character, for in seating the meeting-house, 1731, where they had reference to age, honor, and property, they placed him in the second seat below, with Ensign John Mason, Thomas Mead, and other highly respectable citizens.

He married first 2 Oct. 1689 DELIVERANCE DODGE, born 16 Mar. 1660, died 10 Mar. 1717-18, daughter of John and Sarah ( ) of Beverly; secondly SARAH ( ).

He was an excellent penman, and was town clerk 1743-45, '55. He was assessor nineteen years from 1726 to 1755, with occasional intermissions, and was selectman for 1743-45, 1753-55.

4. JONAS<sup>5</sup> PARKER (Andrew,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> Hananiah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born 6 Feb. 1721-22, died 19 Apr. 1775.

He was one of the first who fell on the Common. "History, Roman history," said Edward Everett, "does not furnish an example of bravery that outshines that of Jonas Parker. A truer heart did not bleed at Thermopylæ. He was next-door neighbor of Mr. Clarke, and had evidently imbibed a double portion of his lofty spirit. Parker was often heard to say that be the consequences what they might, and let others do what they pleased, he would never run from the enemy. He was as good as his word, — better. Having loaded his musket, he placed his hat, containing his ammunition, on the ground between his feet, in readiness for the second charge. At the second fire from the enemy, he was wounded, and sunk upon his knees; and in this condition he discharged his gun. While loading it again upon his knees, and striving in the agonies of death to redeem his pledge, he was transfixd by a bayonet, and thus died on the spot where he stood and fell."

9. CAPTAIN JOHN<sup>5</sup> PARKER (Josiah,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> Hananiah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born 13 July 1729, died 17 Sept. 1775.

He was an assessor, 1764, '65, '66 and '74. He commanded the company of minute-men who stood firmly at their post the 19th of April 1775. It has been said that he served in the French War, but his name is not found on the rolls. He must have been a man of admitted character, to have been selected to command that Spartan band, containing, as it did, within its ranks, several veteran soldiers, and even officers who had seen service upon the "tented field." On the Common on that trying occasion, he showed great coolness and bravery, ordering his men to load their pieces, but not to fire unless fired upon. And in the very face of the British regulars, when some of his men seemed to falter, he announced in a firm voice, that he would cause the first man to be shot down who should quit the ranks or leave his post without orders. And though eight of his men were killed in the morning, and several men severely wounded, true to the spirit of freedom, he collected his company and marched to meet the enemy on their return from Concord, and poured a deadly fire into their ranks. While his health was feeble, and the disease which proved fatal in September of that year was making a steady inroad upon his constitution, he obeyed the calls of patriotism and marched with a portion of his company to Cambridge on the 6th of May, and with a still larger detachment of men on the 17th of June. Receipt of Capt. John Parker for two drums received of the town: "Agreeable to the vote of the town, I have received by the hands of the selectmen the drums provided by the town for the use of the Military Company in this town, until the further order of the town."

There are two muskets, appropriate memorials of Capt. Parker, preserved in the State House, the gift of his grandson, Rev. Theodore Parker, to the State. On one is inscribed, —

"The First Fire Arm
Captured in the War for Independence."

And on the other,

"This Firearm was used by Capt. John Parker
in the Battle of Lexington,
April 19th,
1775."

These relics were received by the State authorities with due ceremony, and are conspicuously displayed in the Senate Chamber for public view.

He married 22 May 1755 LYDIA MOORE, born 18 Jan. 1731, died 15 Dec. 1822, daughter of Thomas<sup>1</sup> and Mary ( ). They were admitted to the church 31 Oct. 1756. She married secondly 5 Nov. 1778 Ephraim<sup>6</sup> Pierce of Waltham.

He was one of the selectmen, 1770, '71, '73, '77, — a period when the most important duties were devolved upon that board. He was a member of the Lexington company which stood undismayed before the British on the 19th of April 1775, and was subsequently in the service eight months. He was one of the delegates chosen from Lexington to a convention assembled at Concord for the purpose of considering the high rate of necessities of life, and the ruinous state of the currency, and fixing a system of prices. The convention met in July, and fixed a scale of prices for goods, wares, and merchandise, and also for articles of produce and the wages of labor.

Not residing at the college he did not receive a degree, but in 1840 he received the honorary degree of A.M. In 1834 he entered the Theological School at Cambridge, and after graduating, he was first settled at West Roxbury, and subsequently became pastor of the twenty-eighth Congregational Society, which worshipped at Music Hall in Boston. By incessant labor his constitution became enfeebled and a hemorrhage from the lungs required him to suspend all labor. In Feb. 1859 he embarked for the West Indies, where he remained for a time, when he sailed for Southern Europe. The leading characteristic of the man was his thirst for knowledge. His love for books became almost a passion, and he made himself acquainted with various languages. His moral character, as seen by the world, was above reproach. But to judge the man aright we must look beneath the surface and see the motives by which he was actuated. And here we find a stern sense of justice tempered with mercy, a strong love for the poor and downtrodden, and a warm sympathy for humanity, for whose elevation he was ready to spend and be spent. The centenary of his birth was observed at Lexington, 26 Sept. 1910, Rabbi Wise, orator.

Capt. Phelps came to Lexington to reside about 1835. His profession was that of a mariner. He began as a cabin-boy, and worked his way through the different grades to master. He made many voyages to Europe and the Levant, and around Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope, in command of several of the finest ships; he was wrecked once, while young, at the Cape of Good Hope, and once while captain at the entrance of Plymouth Harbor. The latter was in the winter of 1836. This was one of the most distressing ship-wrecks known on our coast. The intense cold and the unmanage-able ship, in consequence of the ice accumulated upon her, caused a part of the crew to perish, and others, although saved, were badly bruised and frozen.

During a voyage which extended over six years, by force of circumstances he left the ship, and was obliged to take service under flags of various nations. During which time he visited most of the ports of the Pacific, parts of Australia and Van Diemen's Land, and returned home around Cape Horn in 1823.

In 1840 he commanded a large ship,* and began a series of trading voyages to California, remaining there till his cargo was disposed of, and procuring in its place a cargo of hides. These voyages were generally of three years' duration. San Francisco was then called Yerba Buena, and consisted of three houses, where the city now stands. The river Sacramento had never been visited before then from the sea, and Capt. Phelps with two of his boats and a part of his crew explored it for about one hundred miles inland and displayed the stars and stripes for the first time upon its waters. His third voyage was disturbed by the Mexican War, and on that coast he coöperated with Stockton and Frémont in their operations, and thus contributed something to our acquiring possession of the country. His last voyage was to California, the Sandwich Islands and China, and ended by his return to New York in 1857. He spent about forty years upon the sea, and twenty-six of them as commander of a ship. He was a member of the first board of trustees of the Lexington Savings Bank.

He married first MARY ANN CUSHING, died 16 Dec. 1831, daughter of Henry of Boston; secondly 18 May 1834 LUSANNA T. BRYANT, born 11 July 1804, died at Providence, R. I., 23 Aug. 1885, daughter of Josiah<sup>5</sup> and Sally (Withington).

courts of Middlesex, an office which he held at the time of his death. He was distinguished as an agriculturist, was for many years a trustee of the State Agricultural Society, and his farm in the south part of the town was brought to a high state of cultivation, the whole, including fruit trees and stock, attracting visitors from a distance. This scientific and practical knowledge of the art of husbandry exerted a wide influence over others engaged in that pursuit.

After the death of her husband she returned to her friends, and at the breaking out of the Civil War her sympathies were turned to the sick and wounded. Her active sense of the worth of our institutions prompted her to offer her services. In Aug. 1862 she entered upon her duty as a hospital nurse, serving first at the Mansion House at Alexandria, Va.; thence at Beaufort, and last at Smithville, N. C., till 1865. She was associated with Miss Dix, and being a regular hospital nurse was subject to the orders of the hospital department, or otherwise she would have followed her inclinations and gone to the front. REV. CARLTON A. STAPLES

After graduating from Bridgewater Normal School, he taught with much success at Medfield and Watertown. As a young man at Mendon he came under the strong and kindly influence of Rev. Adin Ballou, which, in part at least, determined him to enter the ministry. He was a man of large frame, robust body and strong features (not unlike those of Franklin); a genial, sympathetic but determined temperament and a commanding personality. As a preacher, he was devoutly earnest, compassionate, plain-spoken, forcible, pure in diction, simple and natural in style. His sermons were largely founded upon and characteristic of his two great, favorite themes, "The Fatherhood of God" and "The Brotherhood of Man."

He enjoyed innocent fun and possessed a great wealth of stories, reminiscences and traditions. He was deeply interested and widely read in history and biography, and as the years passed he showed an ever increasing fondness for the history of Lexington. Largely to his good understanding, foresight and labors is due the preservation of records, relics and historic shrines of this historic town. "Unconsciously almost, and naturally, he became the voice of Lexington's noble memories. His figure alert, white-haired, vigorous in speech and gesture, kindling with feeling, hearty in laughter and good cheer . . . he reaped, as few are permitted to reap in life, the genuine respect, reverence and affection of his fellow men."*

He married at Meadville, Pa., 4 July 1854, PRISCILLA SHIPPEN, born at Philadelphia, Pa., 20 Nov. 1819, daughter of Charles and Martha (Eddowes).

He was educated at Uxbridge Academy, Westfield Normal School, and Meadville Theological School, 1854. He was ordained at Lexington 20 Sept. 1854, dismissed at his own request 30 Nov. 1856 and became pastor of a new society at Milwaukee, Wis. He served in the Civil War as chaplain in an Illinois regiment, but owing to impaired health, left the service and was settled over a society at Brooklyn, N. Y. ## STONE *

1. GREGORY<sup>1</sup> STONE was baptized at Great Bromley, Essex Co.,

* The Stones came to Lexington from Cambridge very early in the history of the town, were numerous, respectable and influential, settled in the westerly part of the township on land now partly in Lexington and partly in Lincoln, and in early times, to distinguish different members having the same name, they were designated in the records according to their geographical positions, as John Stone, East, and John Stone, West, Samuel Stone, East, and Samuel Stone, West.

England, then called Much Bromley, 19 Apr. 1592, died at Cambridge 30 Nov. 1672, son of David* and Ursula ( ).

He came to this country about 1635, perhaps in the ship Increase in which (Apr. 1635) his brother Simon and family are recorded as passengers. He was a member of the First Church and one of its deacons, admitted freeman at the same time as his brother Simon, 25 May 1636, a representative in 1638, appears on every important Committee, and was one of the proprietors of Watertown. His will was made in 1672.

He married first at Nayland, Suffolk Co., England, 20 July 1617, MARGARET GARRAD, baptized at Nayland 5 Dec. 1597, buried at Nayland 4 Aug. 1626; secondly MRS. LYDEA ( ) COOPER, probably from Dedham, Essex Co., England, died at Cambridge 24 June 1674. She had two children by her first husband in England, John and Lydia Cooper, both of whom came with them to Cambridge and were admitted to the church there.

Children, all baptized at Nayland, England, and baptized into the Church of Christ at Cambridge before 11 Mar. 1658:

He was made freeman at Cambridge in 1657. It is probable that Samuel Stone, with his brother David, came to Cambridge Farms in the years that they were married; viz., 1648 and 1655. Samuel settled on his father's large tract about a mile easterly of his brother David, and near what is now the junction of Lincoln and Weston streets. In 1682 he, with others, petitioned the General Court for an act to create the Farms a distinct parish. He was a subscriber toward the first meeting-house in 1691. His tax-bill for 1692–93 was the highest paid, showing that he owned a large amount of landed property. In 1692 he, with one other, was chosen to approach Rev. Benjamin Estabrook toward a settlement as the new minister. On 1 Mar. 1692 he was one of the committee on the foundation of the Ministerial Fund.

He signed the covenant and was chosen deacon at the organization of the church at Lexington 21 Oct. 1696; and shortly thereafter his wife Sarah was admitted to the church by letter from another church.

* An old volume of sermons by John Prideaux, D.D. (Oxford, England, 1636), and others of earlier date, bears marks of high scholarship, and was preserved in Lexington by Stephen Locke, who bought the volume of Amos Tidd of Lexington in 176-; the last figure of the year is not plain. Throughout the pages of the work have been inscribed various handwritings. A prophecy, A.D. 1737, foretells a comet with accompanying disasters. Dry summers in 1761 and 1762, extraordinary of their kind; a terrible storm of wind and snow at night, 2 Feb. 1763; moral sayings; and ten stanzas by a local poet are upon the subject of husbandry. They begin with good advice to the diligent in business, and end in reproach for the careless and lazy. The volume was owned by a Lexington person in 1876.

WHITMORE

Though the name of Whitmore has never been common in Lexington, yet it is found on the earliest records. It is first mentioned in connection with the boundary of the parish when it was incorporated in 1693, the Great and General Court having described the dividing line between the old town of Cambridge and the North Parish as follows, — “Beginning at the first run of water or swampy place, over which is a kind of a bridge in the way or road, on the southerly side of Francis Whitmore’s house, towards the town of Cambridge.” The same description was used when the precinct was erected into a town in 1713, and the above line remains still the boundary between Lexington and Arlington.

Francis Whitmore, however, did not reside in this house at the date of the incorporation of the town, as he had then been dead for several years. It is believed also that he never lived there, although he owned the house, which was probably occupied then or later by his son Samuel. He was a signer of the petition “to be set off as a distinct parish” in October 1682.

JAMES WILSON, perhaps a son of John Wilson, Senior, of Woburn.

He appears to have become a resident of Cambridge Farms as early as 1693, when he was taxed for the purchase of the ministerial land. He was an assessor in 1703, and constable in 1713. He and his wife Deborah were admitted to the Lexington church 6 Feb. 1699. Hudson says that James Wilson from Lexington settled at Leicester in 1721. Washburn's History of Leicester says that James Wilson from Lexington was at Leicester in 1714, and that his wife's name was Mehitable, but it is more probable that Mehitable was the wife of his son James. No one of the name of Wilson appears on the earliest tax lists extant in 1868, viz., 1729 and 1735. He moved to Killingly, Conn., where he and his wife were admitted to the church 27 Dec. 1715; he was living there in 1726, when he conveyed land in Leicester to his son James, Jr.

He married at Woburn, 19 Jan. 1687, DEBORAH PIERCE, born 30 Oct. 1666, daughter of Ensign John and Deborah (Converse) of Woburn, who died before 26 Apr. 1716, the date of the will of her father Ensign John Pierce, who left a legacy to the children of his daughter Deborah Wilson, deceased.

WINSHIP

1. EDWARD<sup>1</sup> WINSHIP, presumably from Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, was born 13 Mar. 1612, died 2 Dec. 1688, g. s. at Cambridge. He sailed from Harwich, England, in the ship Defiance Aug. 1635, and settled at Cambridge.

He was made freeman in 1635, was a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 1638; a selectman of Cambridge for several years between 1637 and 1684; representative in the General Court 1663, '64, '81, '86; held a commission in the militia, and was an active and honored member of the Cambridge church.

Edward Winship was a large landholder, not only at Old Cambridge, but also at the Farms, where he had land assigned to him as early as 1642. In his will, dated 1685, he mentioned sons Ephraim, Edward, Samuel and Joseph, and daughters Mary, Elizabeth and Abigail. As seen by his will his land within the present limits of Lexington extended from Lowell St. across the brook there to the hill west of Mass. Ave., upon the present line of Arlington, and including the mill site, Mount Ephraim, and a part of the Great Meadow.

"I doe: give vnto my fon Ephraim y<sup>t</sup> ycell of land whereon his houfe ftandeth, both all y<sup>t</sup> meadow upland which he hath now in his poffession."

"I doe give vnto fon Edward all my land that lieth on the eaft fide of the broke whereon our fawmilne ftandeth, except that which I bought of Edward Michellfon and twelue acres in my own great meadow."

"I doe give vnto my fon Samuel an hundreth acres of land or theirabout fome of it be meafure by Dauid fiske about eightie acres vpon the weft fid of Concord way next to his brother Ephraim his line, and another ycell of land vpon the eaft fide of Concord way."

He was lieutenant of the Cambridge military company, and in 1662 released from all ordinary training so long as "he hath three training soldiers in his family and himself in commission."

He married first JANE WILKINSON, died between 1648 and '51, daughter of Widow Isabella Wilkinson, from Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, and cousin of William and Richard Cutter; secondly 165(?) ELIZABETH PARKE* (died 19 Sept. 1690, aged 57, g. s. at Cambridge), presumably one of the two daughters of Richard Parke, the name of the other daughter being Isabel, the wife of Francis Whitmore, the name of Isabel suggesting a possible connection with the family of his first wife Jane, the daughter of Widow Isabella Wilkinson, who owned certain lands in common with her son-in-law Edward Winship, with whose family she probably resided.

Her will, dated 1689, mentioned daughters Elizabeth, Abigail, Margery and Mehitabel.

Children by the first wife, born at Cambridge:

- i. SARAH,<sup>2</sup> b. Apr. 1638; m. 29 Sept. 1659 JAMES HUBBARD, d. 28 Aug. 1693; d. 20 Oct. 1665.

Pierce. Mr. Winship lived in the easterly part of the town, and the eminence near his place is still called "Mount Ephraim"; subscribed to the building of the first meeting-house in 1692; was an assessor in 1693 and '94; a member of the committee chosen to treat with the town of Cambridge in relation to the purchase of land for the ministry; and an ensign of militia.

2. EDWARD<sup>2</sup> WINSHIP (Edward<sup>1</sup>), born at Cambridge 3 Mar. 1654, died 10 June 1718, aged about 65, g. s. at Cambridge.

He owned land at Cambridge Farms, but his residence was on the Cambridge side of the line. He was selectman at Cambridge 1691-93, '95-1701. His will, proved in 1718, and an instrument, signed by his heirs, make it evident he had seven living children at the time he died. He gave to his son Edward "the house he dwelleth in, and fifty six acres of land adjoining thir unto butted and bounded as followeth . viz. beginning at a small birch Tree with a heap of stones being the southeast corner standing near the Town Road leading from Old M<sup>r</sup> Mun Roes towards Menotomy . being marked with my own hands in the Prefents of Deacon Whitmore . & brother Joseph fharmon." He gave to his son Ephraim "all that ycell of land whereon he dwells and the interest I have in the house he now dwells in, which was formerly my brother Ephraim's, lying on the south west side of the country road."

Both of these bequests were of land lying in Lexington and show that these sons were then living at Lexington.

He married 14 May 1683 REBECCA BARSHAM, born 12 Dec. 1657, died Aug. 1717, g. s. at Cambridge, daughter of William and Annabella ( ) of Watertown.
